

InTech

September 5, 2002

InvestorInfo Limited (ASX:INV) acquires InTech's Manager Profiles Software

Sydney – Investment industry information provider, InvestorInfo Limited (ASX:INV), today announced it had acquired InTech Pty Ltd's Manager Profiles Software, a research service providing information to subscribers on the structure, people and processes behind 25 of Australia's largest funds managers.

The Software – a database of funds manager records updated regularly and in the event of changes at investment houses – includes no opinion from InTech, but covers in detail the background, investment strategies, philosophies and styles, risk controls, client service capabilities and key executives of Australia's largest institutions.

“InTech's Manager Profiles Software will enhance our burgeoning research division and add a depth of insight to InvestorInfo's popular stable of magazines,” InvestorInfo Managing Director, Bernadette Brennan, said.

“Manager Profiles Software will form the backbone of a growing body of research InvestorInfo is publishing on funds managers, including data on market share, performance and customer service standards, and will broaden the types of marketing and consulting services we offer to the industry as we strive to become a nerve centre of news and information,” Brennan added.

“Manager Profiles was one of InTech's first research services and we are confident that InvestorInfo will further develop and enhance the service for its subscribers”, Brett Elvish, InTech Executive Director, said.

continues/...

InTech Financial Services is one of Australia's leading asset consultants. The firm was founded in 1989 to provide independent investment advice to large corporate and institutional clients. InTech now advises on approximately $33 billion of assets, including some of the largest investment portfolios in the country.

InvestorInfo is the publisher of newsstand, trade and online titles targeting institutional, professional retail, and socially responsible investors including Investor Weekly, Independent Financial Advisor, Ethical Investor, Master Funds Quarterly and InvestorDaily.com.

For more information, contact:

Bernadette Brennan, Managing Director, InvestorInfo Limited
(02) 9241-3333

Brett Elvish, Executive Director, InTech Financial Services
(03) 9614-2411